The Jagiellonian University in Kraków, Poland, kindly invites undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate (incl. PhD) law students as well as young professionals to the Kraków Intellectual Property Law Summer School 2017.

This year the programme is focused on the intriguing issues of IPR infringements. The international approach is guaranteed by keynote speakers from the United Kingdom, Germany and New Zealand. This being the first summer school, we are able to offer special promotional course fees.

PRICING STARTS AT
€80
(350 PLN)
Early bird until 30 April

The course fee covers:

- participation in the full course
- materials (either as an electronic access or handouts)
 - coffee breaks during the sessions
- opening lunch on Monday (11 September)
 - closing dinner on Friday evening (15 September)
- visit in the University Museum located in the oldest building Collegium Maius

The deadline for registration is 31 July 2017.
